

Join Us for a Public Forum with

Professor William Robinson

Department of Sociology, University of California-Santa Barbara, speaking on:

“The Crisis of Global Capitalism: Cyclical, Structural or Systemic?”

Friday, February 12, 1:00-3:00 PM
Modesto Maidique Campus, GC 150
Florida International University

William Robinson is a professor of sociology at the University of California, Santa Barbara. He is affiliated with the Latin American and Iberian Studies Program, and with the Global and International Studies Program at UCSB. His scholarly research focuses on: macro and comparative sociology, globalization and transnationalism, political economy, political sociology, development and social change, Latin America and the Third World, and Latina/o studies. His books include Latin America and Global Capitalism, Johns Hopkins University Press, 2008; A Theory of Global Capitalism, Johns Hopkins University Press, 2004; Transnational Conflicts: Central America, Social Change and Globalization, Verso Press, 2003.

*Sponsored by the Department of Politics and International Relations, School of International and Public Affairs,
With funding from the University Graduate School and The Ruth K. and Shepard Broad Distinguished Lecture Series*