

Latin American and Caribbean Presidential Elections Roundtable Series

Haiti

Eduardo A. Gamarra, Ph.D., Florida International University

Tuesday, March 29, 2011
12:00pm-1:30pm
FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus
SIPA Building, Room 502

Eduardo A. Gamarra is Professor of Political Science in the Department of Politics and International Relations at Florida International University. He holds a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Pittsburgh. From 1994 to 2007, he served as the director of the Latin American and Caribbean Center at FIU. His areas of expertise include Latin American politics, democratization, and neo-populism. His current research focuses on the regional dynamics of Latin America and the Caribbean, political, social and infrastructure issues in Haiti and Haiti-Dominican relations. Dr. Gamarra has also conducted extensive research on drug trafficking in the Caribbean and the effects of American policies on the region. He has testified to the US Congress and is the author of more than half a dozen books and more than forty academic articles on Latin America and the Caribbean.

