

BUILDING THE FUTURE OF INTERNATIONAL AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Join Us in Shaping the Global Leaders of Tomorrow

The Steven J. Green School of International & Public Affairs is embarking on an exciting journey with its new SIPA Phase II building. This state-of-the-art facility will provide unparalleled opportunities for students, faculty and the community to engage in cutting-edge research, innovative learning and impactful dialogue.

We invite you to be a part of this transformative project through our diverse range of naming opportunities. By supporting the Green School, you are not only helping to build a physical structure – you are creating a lasting legacy that will inspire generations to come.

NAMING OPPORTUNITIES

The Green School offers a variety of naming opportunities, each providing a unique chance to leave your mark on the future of education and global affairs. From entire floors to individual rooms, there is a perfect space for every supporter.
