

CURRICULUM VITAE
OF
VICTOR M. URIBE-URAN
DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY – COLLEGE OF LAW

EDUCATION

Ph.D	University of Pittsburgh	History	1987-1993
M.A.	University of Pittsburgh	Political Science	1986-1987
Abogado (J.D)	Universidad Externado De Colombia	Law	1978-1983

FULL-TIME ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

Florida International University	Professor	History – Law	2016- Present
Florida International University	Chair	History,	2013- 2022

MAIN ACCOMPLISHMENTS: Led establishment of post-doctoral “Writing in History” program, first program of its kind for the Humanities at FIU. Oversaw the program’s autonomous funding during first four years and secured its indefinite sustainability. The program enhances training and placement of doctoral students (thus far, we have funded over a dozen post-doctoral fellows) and provides one-on-one tutoring to numerous History and non-history majors to complete term papers and other writing projects. Steered formation of the Department’s first endowment (Henry J. Voegtle Fellowship for the History of Florida and Southern U.S. History) and supported creation of three undergraduate fellowships and prizes. Led establishment of fully online BA and MA programs in the Department. Secured hiring of ten new tenure-track faculty members and four teaching faculty. Contributed to enhance “public history” (history beyond the walls of a classroom), fostering the award of numerous externally funded faculty projects that made the presence of our Department and FIU quite visible and meaningful among various communities in greater Miami. This was ultimately instrumental in the establishment of the Wolfsonian Public Humanities Lab, FIU’s main hub for public-facing humanities research, teaching, and engagement. Secured hiring and reclassification of all members of the Department’s staff. Presided over the Department’s successful transition from the College of Arts and Sciences to a new self-standing school and college (SIPA). Contributed to securing healthy enrollment in history courses amid several drastic changes of the University Core Curriculum

Florida International University	Associate Professor	History – Law	2002- 2016

NON-ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

Florida International University	Chief of Party, Justice Reform and Modernization Project under contract with USAID	June 2006-June 2009
----------------------------------	--	---------------------

MAIN ACCOMPLISHMENTS: CO-PI instrumental in award of this contract, the largest in the history of FIU (20.5 million USD). Directed its implementation in Colombia during first three years (2006-2009) and, before resigning to return to Miami and resume academic work at FIU, left contract renewed for an additional year. Greatest challenge was to secure co-funding required to build 10 justice houses. USAID provided $ 250 k per home. FIU committed to raising $ 750 k per home. I led fundraising efforts and surpassed expectations by tapping into philanthropic private funds and public resources. Thanks to funds raised, FIU built, equipped, delivered, and coordinated logistics for the launching and operation of 10 multi-site houses in regions populated mainly by Afro-Colombian and native communities impacted by the country's armed conflict. This expanded considerably access to justice for some of the most vulnerable people in the nation.

WORKS IN PROGRESS

BOOKS

Insurgent Legal Discourses in the Spanish Atlantic. Early Constitutionalism New Granada and Cadiz, 1811-1821. A legal and cultural history of constitutional discourses involving both New Granada's early constitutionalism and the Constitution of Cádiz. Have drafted two-thirds of the text. Shall be able to finish it within one academic year upon completing additional fieldwork (for a month) in Colombian archives.

Gender, Ethnicity, and the Death Penalty in Early 19th Century Cuba. A micro-history of law and domestic violence in Camaguey, Cuba, with intriguing connections to the end of the death penalty by hanging for women. I have already gathered abundant evidence in Seville's AGI. Must still conduct field work in Camaguey, Cuba, during Summer, 2024.

The Merchant, his Wife, and the Count. Law, Romance, Betrayal, Poisoning, and Daily Life in Eighteenth-Century Mexico. A case study concerning the life of a family in Zacatecas, Mexico, during the 1720s. Except for some notarial and ecclesiastical information I will be gathering in Fall 2019, research for the entire book has been completed. I will be writing the book's first draft during the 2024-2025 academic year.

The Long Global History of Domestic Violence and the Law. A synthesis of historiographical knowledge on battering and spousal murder from Greco-Roman Antiquity until the present. Book design in progress. Preliminary bibliographical research has been completed. Intend to present a book proposal to Cambridge University Press in Spring, 2021. Completion of the manuscript expected 2025-2026 academic year.
